Jailed for 10 years for killing mum and three children Driver 'turned lorry into a lethal weapon'

By Adam Flinn

A LORRY driver who caused the deaths of three children and a mother after ramming into the back of a queue of cars while distracted by his phone has been jailed for 10 years.

Tomasz Kroker, 30, of Trajan Walk in Andover, was sentenced for killing Tracy Houghton, 45, her two sons Ethan, 13, and Josh, 11, and her partner's daughter Aimee Goldsmith, 11.

Horror of fatal crash

FAMILY members of the four people killed have spoken about the tragic events that unfolded.

Tracy Houghton, her two sons Ethan and Josh, and her partner's daughter Aimee Goldsmith were killed instantly when the car they were travelling in was rammed underneath a lorry.

Tracy's partner Mark Goldsmith and his 13-year-old son Jake were in the car immediately behind them.

The family was returning from a camping holiday in the West Country to their home in Bedfordshire when the crash happened at 5.10pm.

Mr Goldsmith said: "[The children] couldn't wait to get home because they all wanted to go Pokemon hunting. We all hugged, kissed, and got into the car.

"We pulled up behind some lorries that were crawling along. Everyone slowed down, and then that was it. Bang.

"Then I looked down at this car, and oh my god. I couldn't believe it. I'm just stood in the middle of this bloody road, looking."

In a joint statement from the family, they said: "To all intents and purposes, Mr Kroker's use of his mobile phone whilst driving turned his lorry into a lethal weapon. He was so distracted he made no attempt to slow down.

"The sentence of 10 years in prison will not ease our pain and suffering, nor do we believe it will send a strong enough message to those who lack the self-restraint to not use their mobile phones whilst driving."

Footsteps help Oscar to take his first steps

A 12-year-old from Wheatley who suffers from multiple disabilities has set his sights on walking to his local shop.

Oscar Towers' family was told he would never walk but, after nearly a decade of intensive physiotherapy and slow progress at the Footsteps Centre in Dorchester, he has started walking short distances.

Last year he was fitted with a mechanical mitral valve in his heart - which means that you can hear him tick when standing close to him - and survived four emergencies during a two-month stay in hospital and now despite setbacks, he has bounced back and learnt to walk.

Scientists discover link between your DNA and having children

OXFORD University scientists have identified 12 specific areas of the human DNA sequence related to the age at which we have our first child and the total number of children we have during the course of our life.

The study, led by Oxford University with the help of the universities of Groningen, The Netherlands, and Uppsala, Sweden, included an analysis of 62 datasets with information from 238,064 men and women for age at first birth, and almost 330,000 men and women for the number of children.

Until now, reproductive behaviour was thought to be mainly linked to personal choices or social circumstances and environmental factors.

However, this new research shows that genetic variants can be isolated and that there is also a biological basis for reproductive behaviour.

The researchers have identified 24 genes likely to be responsible for the effects of the 12 DNA variants on reproductive behaviour. Some of these genes were already known to influ-

Lead author Professor Melinda Mills, of Oxford University, said: "For the first time, we now know where to find the DNA areas linked to reproductive behaviour.

"One day it may be possible to use this information so doctors can answer the important question: "How late can you wait?" based on the DNA variants."

First author Nicola Barban, also from the university, said: "Our genes do not determine our behaviour, but for the first time, we have identified parts of the DNA code that influence it. This is another small piece to understanding this very large jigsaw puzzle."

Halloween animal fun

By George Welch

PUMPKINS, snakes and frogs are familiar sights at Halloween and visitors to Cotswold Wildlife Park, near Burford, got the chance to meet some.

The spookily-themed reptile and invertebrate houses got into the spirit of all things that go bump in the night with some of the creatures.

Among the animals on display were the blood python seen here crawling around a carved pumpkin, the mossy frog, including the first froglet bred at the park and named Bob, and the redfooted tortoise.

Death's head cockroaches take their name from a pattern that looks like a skull and frilled baby lizards completed the seasonal collection.

And for those visitors who weren't brave enough to venture into the reptile and invertebrate houses, there was also a decorated pumpkin patch featuring one topically dubbed Donald Trumpkin.

Cherwell District Council's planning committee approved plans to build the extra homes and to change the types of homes being constructed on the scheme to allow rooms in the roofs.

Marina expansion

BANBURY: Plans to extend Cropredy Marina to provide 100 new moorings have been approved.

The approval includes conditions to submit an external lighting plan and no residential mooring or boat-hire services in the basin.

Colin Clarke, Cherwell's lead member for planning, said: "The canal continues to be an important factor in the rural economy and we believe this development will support commerce and tourism in the village and local area."

Retirement villages can help families to have peace of mind

Living Life to the Full

HELPING elderly parents remain in the family home can be just as stressful for grown-up children as it is for the person trying to maintain their independence. But few people want to see their parents in a care home unless care needs necessitate. That's why more families are looking at retirement villages which provide a choice of accommodation, fantastic facilities and reassurance of on-site support and care.

"Deciding what's best for Mum and Dad is an issue facing an increasing number of families as the population ages and one we hear frequently," says Paddy Brice, managing director of Richmond Villages, who have an award winning retirement village at Letcombe By Sarah Town

Regis, near Wantage, and a new community just opening in Witney.

"Keeping people in their own home is often only achievable with great support from a network of family, friends, neighbours and public services, the stress on everyone can be considerable."

It was the need for support such as having meals, laundry and cleaning provided that persuaded Liz Smith to look for a retirement village for her father.

"My father had been widowed for a number of years and had lived independently in the family home. But as he got older he was struggling with day-to-day life" she says.

"I looked at several places, but the thing that impressed us all about Richmond Villages, including my dad, were the facilities and the fact it was very much a social community as well. It was important for my dad that he owned his own property and this was something Richmond Villages were able to offer."

Liz's father bought a Village Suite which has a large bedroom with walk-in wet room. It also has a separate living room with a kitchenette that has a microwave and washing-up facilities.

"The assisted living package means all his meals are provided, his washing, laundry and cleaning are done, in fact everything is done for him," says Liz.

"For myself and my family it's given us peace of mind."

Liz describes living at Richmond Villages as, "like living in a five-star hotel" and says that her dad really enjoys using the swimming pool. "There are various exercise classes, as well as lots of clubs and societies he can belong to should he choose."

Richmond Villages have three types of accommodation: one and two bedroom apartments for an independent lifestyle and one and two bedroom Village Suites providing assisted living. For added reassurance there is also a care home providing 24-hour nursing and dementia care.

"Meeting up with friends is a great social occasion for most people and the social aspects are enhanced by our activities and events team who arrange everything from bridge clubs to cultural festivals," says Paddy Brice. "We also have our own vehicles and drivers so shopping and other trips mean not having to rely on taxis or family and friends if you don't drive anymore."

So, if you're in the situation where your concerned about your elderly relatives why not take a look at retirement villages; you'll be pleasantly surprised!

Sudoku

The objective is to fill a 9×9 grid with digits so that each column, each row, and each of the nine 3×3 sub-grids that compose the grid (also called "boxes", "blocks", "regions", or "sub-squares") contains all of the digits from 1 to 9. The puzzle setter provides a partially completed grid, which for a well-posed puzzle has a unique solution.

A new Pilates Reformer Jumpboard session at Studio One

We are offering a free taster on Wednesday 9th November at 8pm.

It doesn't matter if you are new to Pilates, a Jumpboard class could be just what you need to add to your weekly routine. The Jumpboard is an attachment that converts a reformer into a horizontal jumping machine. It fixes to the front of the reformer where the footbar is. While lying with your back on the carriage you can adjust the spring tension and jump on the board as if it were the floor. The spring tension takes gravity out of the equation, so it feels like you are jumping on the moon!

Oxford versus Cambridge for property investors

Bill Cooper, co-author of The Oxford Property Blog and Managing Director of Martin and Co, Oxford

Because of their international reputations for academic excellence and rivalry, Oxford and Cambridge are often compared to each other. With Oxford recently confirmed as the top university in UK and global rankings, the city currently has the bragging rights, but does that hold true for property investors?

Most property investors invest close to where they live or in a single geographical location that they feel they know well. Investors become loyal to an area, particularly where their investments have experienced a period of strong performance. In any area there is an ebb and flow of investment returns, and property investment rewards long-term investment. As property prices and rental values rise over time, rental yields improve, progressively supplementing capital growth to drive up returns. With the new stamp duty supplement on second homes and next year's changes to the tax treatment of mortgage interest payments, the costs of new investments are higher for landlords and should be taken account of when forecasting investment returns. These changes look most likely to dissuade speculative investors. Professional investors will forecast returns over five and 10 years and will compare those returns to alternative investments available to them. But should they also consider widening their investment geographically and broadening the type of property in which they invest?

At face value, Oxford and Cambridge are comparable property markets. Over all OX (Oxford) post codes the average earnings of people is £22,987 versus £21,731 over all CB (Cambridge) post codes. Across the same post codes, the average property value in OX post codes is £385,300 and, in CB post codes, £369,500. So on face-value bragging rights remain with Oxford! Or do they? A key measure of a property market is the price-toearnings ratio - for owner occupiers, the lower the ratio the more affordable the market is. For an investor landlord, markets are often more attractive where the ratio is high. That's because fewer residents can afford to buy a property, increasing demand for private rented homes. At the aggregate level, Cambridge has a price-to-earnings ratio of 17 with Oxford at 16.8. So virtually identical, right?

I thought I'd dig a little deeper and narrow the comparison to the central post codes for each city as it is those post codes that most interest buy-to-let investors and where demand is strongest. Here the picture diverges. In Cambridge, the average earnings in the central post codes is £30,906, compared to Oxford at £20,076. That's 52% higher average earnings in Cambridge. The average property price in Cambridge is £488,520 versus Oxford at £453,560. That's just 8% difference. So the difference in the price-to-earnings ratio is substantial with Cambridge being 16.0 v Oxford at 22.6. This identifies a stark difference in the affordability of property between the cities and goes some way to explaining the continued attractiveness of Oxford to investor landlords.

Over recent years, Cambridge has offered investors a superior return on investment. As I wrote recently, the latest LendInvest survey shows that Cambridge has offered substantial increases in the capital value of properties over the last six years (9% versus 5.8% for Oxford), mirroring the increases that Oxford experienced between 2008 and 2014. Oxford has continued to offer the better rental yield (5.5% v 5.1% for Cambridge), but, overall, Cambridge has offered the better short-term returns - 14.1% return on investment versus 11.3% for Oxford. However, the affordability 'gap' in Oxford points to a better more stable long-term investment proposition.

Increasingly, I am being asked by my landlord clients to advise them on how they should alter their portfolio to optimise their medium- and long-term returns in Oxford.

The best portfolios give exposure to the breadth of Oxford demand, including the student market and the growing number of young professionals who want to live and work in the city. I then work with these clients to assist them to source new properties and divest property as necessary to re-shape their portfolio. This demonstrates the need for professional investors to properly plan their portfolio and accurately forecast investment returns.

Estate agent offers a first-class service

At this time of year predic- course, the big Brexit surprise. tions start to consider the year ahead. Operating in the property sector, this is no less the case and we're often asked what the coming year holds for the sales or rental markets.

But we're not going to pretend we know how the market will fare. We don't have a crystal ball and there's always anomalies that can temporarily knock things off course. Indeed, in the last 18 months, there's been a series of 'uncertainties' that included a General Election; the introduction of stamp duty on second properties; the continuation of historically low interest rates and then, of Throughout all these events, however, there remains one certainty - people will continue to move house and serious investors will continue to invest. Our job as property experts, therefore, remains to match people and property.

Nowadays, you're likely to engage with the property market in different ways. You may choose to deal with agents in high-street branches, prefer an on-line only experience or possibly the growing middle ground that mixes both the online and branch experience.

Whatever your preference, it's imperative that you receive first class customer service.

We don't underestimate the importance of face-to-face relationships which is why all our branches are undergoing significant refurbishments. We've also made sure that we're available during hours that work around you - our branches are open 8am to 8pm during the week and all day Saturday.

Paired with that is our awardwinning website and new app, both of which provide the ability to book viewings and valuations and the option to decide on offers online at any time of day. Visit us in one of our five Oxfordshire branches or view www.andrewsonline.co.uk remaining the busiest times for the property market, contrary to popular belief there are actually home in the winter months.

Kevin Shaw, national sales director at property specialist Leaders, said: "Winter may typically be cold and dark, but the property market at this time of the year is remarkably bright.

"A good number of property sales are arranged and completed during the period between November and February and the market is certainly becoming less seasonal with every passing year."

Kevin has identified three reasons to support putting your property on the market at this time of year:

· Winter tends to attract only determined buyers. Whereas who are uncertain

Despite spring and summer about buying may choose to look around properties in the warmer months, only committed movers do so in winter. This many good reasons to sell a means you can be confident viewers are serious and have the ability to make an offer.

> Major property portals such as Rightmove and Zoopla are incredibly busy over the Christmas and New Year period. People who get their property on the market in November and December are in pole position when it comes to taking advantage of this spike in activity.

 Winter typically sees fewer properties on the market than spring and summer, but with serious buyers still searching it can actually be easier to agree a sale as there is less competition from rival sellers.

The movie at the Market Place Theatre starts at 10.30am and tickets cost £7.

We are delighted to be able to announce a very exciting opportunity for a commercial and/or sports facility in the heart of Chipping Norton.

The sports facility includes a full size football pitch which can be used for a range of activites and the building will be constructed to 'Sport England' changing room specification and the end user can specify any further requirements.

The property already has the benefit of planning permission with the local planning authority which is listed as a clubhouse. However if an alternative use category is required by an end user then we would try to accommodate that need.

As part of a redevelopment project that is taking place on Walterbush Road and in conjunction with Bellway homes we are in the process of constructing this beautiful new facility which will be available for rent with a space of approximately 3,000 square foot and will be available from early New Year.

The space would be ideal for a crèche, gym, surgery, licensed bar or any other activity. As it is still being constructed there is an opportunity to ensure that the space is fitted to meet specified requirements.

The location is in the heart of the community of Chipping Norton and situated close to local amenities. This opportunity is also on the doorstep of a brand new residential estate.

If you might be interested in using this amazing newly built space or wish to inspect the site then please contact Mr Glyn Jones on 07971381494.

JACK AND THE BEANSTALK

Imaginative puppetry gives this classic tale a fresh and funny spin. Was it a dream or did I hear a talking bean? Jack lives on a small farm with his mum and very little to eat. He likes to talk to the birds, his cow and anyone who will listen. Imagine his surprise when he swaps his cow for some magic beans and starts to hear a whispering in the breeze and a giant rumble in the sky... Charming and inventive with plenty of interaction, an enormous beanstalk, bags of gold and a smelly old giant, Jack and the Beans Talk is a cautionary tale about what might happen if you throw things out of the window!

Internationally renowned singer, composer and actor David Essex OBE has announced his first major tour in over four years. The 21 date UK tour taking place in November will see him perform much loved hits spanning over his entire 50 year repertoire.

He received major awards and some ecstatic reviews which saw him lead a cast at the Roundhouse and then at the West End for two years.

IN THE REPUBLIC OF HAPPINESS

The family Christmas dinner seems to be proceeding with the usual superficial warmth and humour, before the surprise visit of Uncle Bob causes an outburst of raw emotion. One by one, the family's darker indulgences are revealed...

One of the UK's most inventive and accomplished dramatists, Crimp's play is a razor-sharp commentary on modern consumer society. With his typical confrontational bite, he explores ideas of happiness, the destruction of the family, and the attempt to create a life "like a pane of glass" where everything is happy, beautiful, and shallow.

The DS4 Crossback BlueHDi 180

'I like the car but not the price'

THE new DS4 is a decent-looking By Anthony Yates car actually and is available in two looking at here is called the 'Crossback' which I would say is the better looking out of the two.

DS Automobiles

distinct body styles. The one you are DS4 embodies the spirit of avant-garde in being luxurious, beautifully finished and inspiring to drive. Well, let's see if what I found matches that statement perfectly. a shade under 11 seconds. My test car was also fitted with a six-speed automatic gearbox that was smooth and offered

Power and efficiency:

Powered by a four-cylinder diesel engine that is modern in its ability to produce some stunning performance figures as well as a decent return on fuel economy and power. Top line figures: 180hp with 400Nm of torque, a top speed of 117mph and a 0-62 time > some additional ultrafast gear changes. along with a decent amount of power delivery.

> > To be honest - I'm struggling to find the reasons why anybody would buy a DS4 with a manual gearbox when it's clear to me that the automatic gearbox is the one to have.

On the road:

I was expecting the suspension to feel a little bit soft actually, but to my surprise it felt really sporty into the corners. The steering also felt very light and well weighted which was yet another nice surprise.

Road noise at high speed is also very minimal, even with those big 18in gloss black diamond-cut alloy wheels, but the best bit was how the suspension managed to mask even the most formidable of road surfaces.

Design & technology:

Inside you will find lots of modern technology such as Mirror Screen which uses Apple CarPlay & MirrorLink for Android so you can seamlessly mirror your compatible smartphone. Then there's the DS LED Vision which provides a broad beam that's 51% more powerful on dipped beam and is close to the spectrum of natural light and will help clearly illuminate the road ahead.

Some of the standard equipment on the DS Crossback starts with: 7in colour touch screen, ABS with EBD and EBA, colour reversing camera, cruise control, DAB digital radio, automatic lights and wipers and dark-tinted rear windows. This is also just a small amount of what you can expect to get.

In terms of safety, you also get ESC, driver and front passenger airbags, front lateral/curtain air bags and Isofix child seat anchorage points (x2).

To sum up:

I like the DS4 Crossback, but I don't like the pricing. The base model Puretech 130 S&S six-speed manual starts at about £22,000, and if you decided to buy the model I am reviewing here, then it will set you back a staggering £27,045 (basic OTR costs). Add in a few extras and you are starting to push towards £30,000. For me, that feels like a big ask and I am really struggling to deal with that too.

THE LAW HAS CHANGED ... DO YOU HAVE THE CORRECT GAS?

We can now offer R1234YF car air-con recharge and service

Is your car 2013 or newer? If so, you will need the correct gas.

As of the 7th September 2016 we are able to offer R1234yf refrigerant re-gassing, or a car air-con recharge as sometimes known at our Wheatley Car Centre Branch.

This gas is compulsory for new cars from 2013 all be it has been around since 2010, although some manufacturers are still refusing to use this, notably Mercedes who are not happy with the flammable nature of the gas, which in turn means not many companies offer the re-gassing service for cars using r1234yf. But due to the amount of cars we sell we have needed to be able have this service onsite so we can now offer this service to our customers.

A common question is why the old, r134a gas found in most cars today, is being replaced?

It's driven by environmental concerns as the new gas is more environmentally friendly.

So, for ALL your re-gas and service needs please contact our Wheatley Car Centre Service Department, tel. 01865 874046 opt 2 • www.wheatleycarcentre.co.uk

Back-to-back home wins for Oxford City Stars

A DEBUT goal from Jaroslav Cesky helped Oxford City Stars make it back-to-back home wins for the first time this season with Sunday's 3-1 win over Solent Devils at Oxford Ice Rink.

Cesky struck in the second period to cancel out an early Richard Facey goal for the visitors. Third-period goals from Joonas Liimatainen and Alan Green secured a 3-1 win for the Stars, who had won their previous home game 9-3 against London Raiders a week earlier.

The win for Simon Anderson's side, who sit in second place in the NIHL South 1 table, cut Chelmsford Chieftains' lead at the top of the division to just two points.

With four wins in their last five matches, Oxford can enjoy some breathing space ahead of the rest of the pack, with Streatham IHC in third place four points behind.

However, Oxford remain winless in their two NIHL South 1 BBO Cup matches so far. The Stars will be looking to kick-start their BBO Cup campaign when they face Bracknell Hornets at Oxford Ice Rink on Saturday before heading to Milton Keynes Thunder on Sunday.

Oxford return to league action the following weekend, visiting London Raiders and hosting Invicta Dynamos.

Six sign on for Oxford RL side

OXFORD RL have confirmed six signings for the 2017 Kingstone Press League 1 campaign kicking off in March.

New boys Anthony Cox, from London Skolars, and Liam O'Callaghan and Harrison Brough, both from Hemel Stags, have joined, while Blues regulars Harvey Burnett, Luke Gardiner and Luke Evans have re-signed.

Head coach Tim Rumford said: "This is excellent news for the club and rugby league in Oxfordshire. The message seems to be getting out there that the Oxford policy of giving southern talent an opportunity to play is getting through to players.

"We have in the last three seasons produced three homegrown lads to go on and earn Super League contracts.

"We are definitely creating pathways and I'm proud of that and I'd like to applaud the coaching staff and all at the club for their commitment to this mission."

Winger Gardiner is to start his third season with Oxford, while ex-London Broncos centre Burnett kicks off his second season having joined mid-way through last year.

Evans enters his fifth season in a Blue shirt and is closing in on 50 appearances.
